Connecting the Dots between Design and Construction!

Garden level construction, design layout, and final rendering from first floor

- The series of pictures above attempts to 'connect the dots' of our current construction progress at the HealthPlex. The far left picture shows that the ground level walls for our Ambulatory Care Center (ACC) are currently being erected.
- The construction of the ground level was driven by the ground level design of that specific space from our Super Users earlier in the construction process (middle picture). The space represented in the design layout will eventually be below the 1st floor of the ACC as represented in the furthest picture on the right above (Ambulatory Care Center).
- Did you know that it is windy in Oklahoma? Yes, we did too. That's why our team worked with wind study consultants from Guelph, Ontario to validate that the future design of the HealthPlex campus mitigates the strong winds!

current building. As these renovation plans and timelines are finalized we will share with you how this might impact current operations. Renovation details will be shared well in advance of any disruption.

- Thank you to those who were able to attend our 'topping out' ceremony at Norman Regional Nine. The topping out ceremony is typically held once the last beam is placed atop a structure. Many healers had an opportunity to celebrate this meaningful milestone by signing the beam before it was installed.

- Progress continues on our Behavioral Health Center (BHC)
- Construction for the BHC and Senior Wellness Center is currently targeted to begin in April.
- There will be an impact to parking on the Porter Campus. Trevor Wall, Director of Inspire Health Program, is working with a team to propose potential temporary parking solutions. Stay tuned! More information will be shared shortly about future, temporary, parking during the Porter Health Village construction.
